CONCERN IS VOICED BY COUNCILLOR OVER £3.5m 'EXIT' CASH

GEM REPORT by TIM CHAPMAN

AN independent councillor says he is concerned by some Vale Council 'exit packages' that totalled over £3.5m in a four year period.

Coun Phil Clarke, who represents Rhose, sits on the 'voluntary early retirement or voluntary redundancy committee'.

Coun Clarke told The GEM: "Since my election to the council I have been a member of the committee and I'm unable to be specific about details from the committee meetings since the reports are considered in a confidential setting and deal with personal details of council employees."

"That said, I have frequently questioned the rewarding of discretionary compensation payments during these meetings, as opposed to the legally-required statutory payments to staff leaving the council."

"In these days of austerity, we need to take care with every pound spent, so perhaps the council should reconsider its policy with regard to discretionary payments."

and Colcot Road (Co-op).

Vale-wide, Cowbridge too has lost its post office which closed last April.

Although some transactions can be done online, such as road tax, many people, particularly the elderly, rely on Post Office services.

In the case of Highlight Park and Cowbridge, the local MP, Alun Cairns, has campaigned to find new locations for branches - but so far drawn a blank.

He said: "I have a number of concerns about the process undertaken by the Post Office over planned changes to sites in the Vale including Cowbridge."

PRAISE FOR FIREFIGHTERS

I WAS unfortunate enough to be involved with the extremely frightening lightning strike on our neighbours' houses in the early hours of Wednesday morning, January 14.

As the Tummion family's neighbours, we were delighted to help them and to accommodate them, as their house was full of smoke and dangerous to be in – so naturally, I called the Fire Brigade.

Considering that they had to come from Barry and the road conditions were rather hazardous to say the least, because of the hail and sleet, they made excellent time and two engines arrived.

The reason for my writing this is to congratulate the excellent team who attended the incident.

They were, as one would expect, very professional – but it was the way in which they went that bit further that impressed the most.

They dealt with what was obviously a very distressing situation magnificently and I, for one, would like to thank them for everything that they did.

Sam Smith, Llanbetherly.

'I CAN'T RELY ON THE BUS'

HAVING written to the council, the bus company and local MP all without reply, I thought about seeing if this could be printed.

The 303/304 bus service that serves the Llantwit Major/Cardiff area is shockingly poor and, on average, late two or three times a week, forcing people to either pay for a taxi or risk being late for work and putting livelihoods at risk.

The Government and politicians are constantly telling people to use public transport, but when it is unreliable (as it currently is) then you can't risk it.

To get into Cardiff for a 10.30am shift start you have to get the 8.30am bus, which takes over an hour. When it then runs late (by usually 10 – 15 minutes) you risk being late, despite trying to leave home two hours before the shift starts.

M Jones, St Athan.

'Clean up mess on pavements'

I WOULD like to make a plea to the small number of inconsiderate dog walkers of Boverton and Llantwit Major.

Please clean up after your animals! It is disgusting to have to navigate the streets of the area dodging piles of excrement.

It is also strange how an owner seems to make the effort to bag their dog's mess, but then discards the bag on the floor. Please be more considerate.

Dave Gordin, Llantwit Major.

'Destructive LDP has handed over rural Vale to the planners'

THE fate of Colwinston expressed in Elizabeth Nash's compelling letter (GEM January 15) exposes what a destructive process the LDP has been for the rural Vale.

Back in 2012, the Conservatives' LDP promised moderate growth in a number of villages, bringing sustainable development and much-needed affordable housing.

Instead, we saw a strategy for the rural Vale that Labour was to emulate when it took control in May 2012: massive expansion in a minority of villages like Colwinston, Ystradowen and Wick; an unexplained refusal to propose a new settlement at Llandow Newydd, which would greatly ease the pressure on Vale villages; and the elimination of protective settlement boundaries around 24 Vale villages.

The rural communities at least had the assurance from the new Labour council that in its LDP consultation, their views would be properly considered, with the ultimate safeguard of a quasi-judicial assessment of the council's proposals by an independent Welsh Government planning inspector.

We now know how hollow that commitment proved to be.

'JUDGE AND JURY'

With Colwinston as the latest example, the Vale Council has approved a whole series of planning applications for the very sites it proposed in its LDP, thus denying a growing list of Vale communities the chance for their development to be carefully assessed by the LDP inspector.

A combination of developers' indifference to community rights and the council's use of national planning loopholes has enabled the latter to become judge and jury in its own cases, rather than the LDP inspector.

It has already notched up the fait accompli of 450 houses in the villages, with another 124 likely in Wick shortly. The Welsh Government Planning Division expressed great concern in December 2013 about the scale of rural housing development proposed by this council.

However, when the LDP inspector comes later this year to his inquiry, there will be little left for him to assess in the rural Vale. It is win-win for developers and a Labour-dominated council intent on maximising rural build to reduce the housing

'ENTRANCE TO WAITROSE HAZARD TO PEDESTRIANS'

I T is my opinion that the entrance to Waitrose store on Cowbridge High Street is a danger to pedestrians.

The entrance is too narrow with many vehicles trying to enter and leave the store, with little regard to people trying to cross the road.

The town hall car park being opposite to the entrance to Waitrose is causing traffic to take risks to exit both car parks.

I would suggest the highways department look into this before someone is hurt.

Michael J Hill, Sigginstone.

See more readers' letters to the Editor on page 19.

pressures in its greater Barry heartlands.

We have yet to face a whole series of windfall applications in numerous Vale villages if the settlement boundaries disappear.

The Welsh Government has a heavy responsibility for creating the planning blight which is unfolding before our eyes in the rural Vale.

It has failed to protect communities' rights under the LDP – they have no legal redress. Furthermore it sent in December 2013 a clear message to this council that it should build more houses at an accelerated rate.

In practice the fate of this beautiful area of Wales has been handed over to a handful of planning consultants and planning officers.

The crowning insult in this chaotic story of national and local misgovernment in strategic planning is that residents at the receiving end of all this cannot even hold accountable those councillors responsible for these planning decisions: very likely there will be no further Vale Council election!

Paul Jeremy, Vale Villages Together network.

Hidden threat to respite centres

FURTHER to your article 'Future is uncertain for popular local respite centre' in The GEM on January 8, there are no other respite care facilities in this area.

Whilst the charges at this venue are extremely expensive, even without any actual care package being required, it does allow for carers to have a break for holidays, etc.

How and when Cartrefi Cymru charity took control of this facility does not appear to have been made public, and as this respite centre was built with money from the Welsh Church Fund, surely there should have been public consultation before it was handed over to new trustees?

These trustees now seem to be saying that they can no longer manage the respite centre as a financial going concern.

My fear is that this community asset will end its days in a similar manner to The Porthcawl Rest, which was a miners' rehabilitation care centre, on one of the most desirable re-development sites in Wales. Lost and gone forever.

Can anyone advise how much this sale raised and how the money has been used? Community facilities are fast disappearing in south Wales, with very little consultation or information being given to the public.

It appears that boards of trustees can say they no longer wish or are able to run these valued community facilities and they can change hands without consultation or formal information being forthcoming to the community.

Where the Charity Commission comes into the scenario is a mystery.

With newspapers disappearing, there will be even less source for information such as you published, regarding the possible loss of a respite care centre facility in Porthcawl to become public knowledge.

That leaves even more scope for community facilities to disappear before the community is aware of it.

Avril Lake, Porthcawl.

Editor's note: Never fear, Ms Lake, while the print media as a whole is certainly facing a challenge, The GEM, for one, is rising to it and will, as ever, remain vigilant!

Vale connection with the 'Morrow Boys'

FEW people alive this side of the 'pond' will recall Richard Hottelet, who died recently aged 97. He was one of the 'Morrow Boys' recruited by Edward R Morrow of CBS, to report from the front line in World War Two.

Certainly, the thousands of US troops stationed in the Vale of Glamorgan would have known his voice well – as would their families back in the USA.

He was unique as he was the son of German US immigrants, born in Brooklyn. Speaking fluent German, he went to work in Berlin and was incarcerated by the Gestapo for four months, accused of spying; only the intervention of the US Ambassador saved him.

During the subsequent conflict, Hottelet reported on the D-Day landings, the Battle of the Bulge in the Ardennes (exactly 70 years ago) and the invasion of Germany.

He was shot down east of the Rhine and parachuted into the company of British soldiers who revived him with hot tea, laced with single malt whisky! Rumours persist that he was a spy. Certainly, the Abwehr (German Military Intelligence) and the Gestapo were so convinced, he was captured and exchanged as part of a trade for three suspected spies in the US.

He also had a British girlfriend, whom he later married – Ann Delafield, who worked for the British Foreign service in Spain, under Kim Philby (later exposed as a Soviet spy).

Hottelet passed information to her and therefore unwittingly to Soviet Russia, via Philby, who ended his life in Moscow with a senior rank in the KGB.

Hottelet continued in Europe after the war, and his marriage to Delafield lasted 71 years. In 2006, he returned to his wartime HQ in London at 84 Hallam Street, and unveiled a memorial plaque.

One of his iconic broadcasts had been from above the D-Day beaches: "This is Richard Hottelet reporting... the Allied forces landed in France early this morning. I watched the first landing craft hit the beach exactly on the minute of H-hour."

Were any of those troops previously stationed in south Wales? Almost certainly, yes.

He died just before Christmas 2014. RIP. Christopher Short, Barry.

Council bouquet!

WELL done to the Vale Council's highways department for the resurfacing of Park Road.

This was carried out efficiently and in very good time. As a resident of the area, I would like to express my thanks for a job well done.

Happy New Year to you all!

Jose Tancock, Barry.

Documentary follows bid to showcase GlastonBarry

AN independent documentary that follows two Barry men as they strive to put on a music festival to showcase the town and its musical talent, is to get its first screening in February.

Waking up Barry follows cousins Ross Mackintosh and Matt Blumberg in the months leading up to the festival as they seek to promote the event, gain support from the people of Barry and find themselves a local act to open the named 'GlastonBarry' festival.

Narrated by S4C's Llinos Lee and featuring the likes of Steffan Rhodri (BBC's Gavin and Stacey) and Neil Ruddock (former Liverpool and England footballer and TV personality), the film takes in open mic nights, planning meetings, radio interviews, band battles and the festival itself.

The film's director, Mark Woods said: "This has been a great first project for me and it is exciting that people are now going to get chance to see the film and see the work and dedication of Matt and Ross to do something positive for the town of Barry."

Ross Mackintosh, of Mack Events, explained: "I think what is interesting about the film is that it captures us at a time that was vital for the venture."

"We knew if anything went wrong we were finished, and I think our determination to make it work comes across in the film".

The two men had to organise the venue, the marquee, staffing, refreshments and host an evening with Neil Ruddock.

Waking up Barry will get its first showing at an exclusive event to be held at Barry Masonic Hall on February 28.

In addition to a screening of the film the event will also act as a launch party for the film.

Vale Council respond to residents' concern over the 'Merthyr Street tip'

MERTHYR STREET residents in Barry say they are fed up with an area behind their houses being used as a tip.

They told The GEM it wasn't the only place in the town where it was happening and hoped councillors get "on the ball" in dealing with the issue.

The GEM approached the Vale Council to find out what was happening there.

The works manager, Colin Smith, explained: "While the land in question is privately owned, the council's senior enforcement officer and the community support officer for the area have been co-ordinating an initiative which engages the police, local businesses, local youth offending teams, and various other partners."

"It challenges them to improve the cleanliness of the area and help remove graffiti and fly tipping."

"The enforcement team, the police, and the fire service, along with residents from Merthyr Street, have visited the businesses on Holton Road regarding the fly tipping, and have emphasised the importance of keeping the alley gates locked."

Mr Smith added: "This specific area is scheduled for a co-ordinated clean with all partners next week. Once this is done, the council's enforcement team will patrol the area to ensure there is no re-offending."

Vale Council officers have also had a meeting with a representative of the owners, who agreed that once the site is cleared, they will put up a fence to stop any further offending.

ABOVE: Tipping point – the Vale Council has agreed with Merthyr Street residents that the area should be cleared – and says it will continue to monitor the area.

The Penarth and District Ramblers take in the history of Cardiff

IN brisk winds and rain, Sylvia and eight Penarth and District Ramblers set off across Pont y Werin, Cardiff Bay, before joining part of the Ely Trail across Leckwith Road and into Sanatorium Park.

Crossing the railway bridge and entering Victoria Park and pausing for a coffee break in sunshine, the evidence of damage from the high winds overnight lay around them.

They tramped along Romilly Road and passed the lovely statue of Joyance in Thompson's Park before climbing up to Pencisely Road, then across Penhill where Llandaff Fields led to Wilf Wooller Road, named after the renowned Welsh cricketer, rugby star and journalist.

From Pontcanna Fields, the footbridge at Blackweir, where the River Taff was thundering over the weir, led into Bute Park.

After an early lunch of hot soup at the Secret Garden Café, their route headed through Sophia Gardens and along the embankment beside the river and through Hamadryad Park, led into Cardiff Bay.

Circumnavigating the usual sights at Cardiff Bay and making their return across the Cardiff Barrage against a blustery strong headwind, their return was via paths beside Penarth Marina back to Cogan.

The following day from Portobello, beside the River Ogmore, 12 walkers including leader Joy and Pepper the spaniel were making their way up through Pant Mari Flanders to Beacons Down.

They wandered across the common with only sheep for company and trying to stay out of the brisk south-westerly wind.

They descended by road into St Brides Major and passed the delightful St Bridget's Church, then Pitcot Pool and the Farmers Arms, before trekking through muddy fields overlooking Trwyn y Witch, and onto a pretty path through Pant y Slade to Dunraven.

Deviating to the walled garden, the only part left of Dunraven Castle, and with most people appreciating an early stop for lunch and a hot drink, in preparation for the blustery headwind outside the stone walls, fields with stone styles led uphill into Southerndown.

Then, tramping a narrow bridle path and a lane through the quiet hamlet of Norton, before heading south to overlook the Ogmore Estuary, sandy paths through the dunes brought them back to their start.

On January 24, meet at 9am at Cogan Leisure Centre for a nine-mile moderate walk taking in the Rhymney Valley and North Cardiff Craigs; contact Liz on 029 2051 3698.

Wear suitable clothing, preferably boots and carry waterproofs, food and drinks.

Some degree of fitness is required and if you are in any doubt, contact the walk leader for advice.

Programmes and membership advice can be obtained from Pam on 029 2025 5102.

JOY STRANGWARD

£3.5m in payoffs made to Vale Council staff

Coun Clarke went on: "Information that is publicly available in the council's statement of accounts shows exit packages awarded to personnel earning in excess of £60,000 between 2010 and 2014 was £3,573,824."

The Vale Council emphasises that it operates an 'avoiding redundancy' policy and reports all payments in the annual statement of accounts.

Coun Phil Clarke pointed out: "The 2013-14 statement reveals that three top managers were compensated in 2012 with the maximum amount allowable within the council's policy."

"All this is a lot of taxpayers' money which could be used for other council services."

"Many members of this committee have a trade union background but my professional life has always been within the private sector."

He says care should be taken with taxpayers' money.

Coun Clarke said he was very interested by a letter published in the press by Coun Mike Powell, on the situation at Rhondda Cynon Taff Council.

Coun Powell said: "These discretionary payments are supposed to be used in exceptional circumstances only. RCT has been handing them out like free toys at McDonalds for years."

Coun Clarke added: "We do need to question the need for discretionary expenditure of public money in times of austerity, especially when efforts are being made to cut front line services such as libraries when I believe we should be looking at the backroom costs first."

The GEM asked the Vale Council two questions: Can there be justification for paying out more to people than is legally required? Does the council feel there is sufficient scrutiny of payouts of a discretionary nature?

The head of human resources, Reuben Bergman, said: "The council will always endeavour to avoid redundancies and redundancy payments as part of its agreed 'avoiding redundancy' policy."

"Where redundancies are necessary then payments are made in accordance with the council's statutory requirements and related discretionary provisions."

"The business case for all redundancy payments are considered and determined by the council's 'early retirement and redundancy committee' and all payments are reported in the council's annual statement of accounts."

WOMAN DIES AFTER BEING HIT BY TRAIN

TRAINS between Cardiff and Penarth were cancelled for around two hours yesterday (Wednesday) after a woman died after being struck by a train just before 6am.

Arriva Trains Wales provided a replacement bus service while British Transport Police, South Wales Police and the Welsh Ambulance Service NHS Trust attended the incident at Dingle Road railway station.

Paramedics treated the woman at the scene. She was taken to the University Hospital of Wales, Cardiff, where she died of her injuries.

A British Transport Police spokesperson said that the incident was not being treated as suspicious, and that a file would be prepared for the coroner.

'Barry boy' who deserves award

WITH reference to his GEM letter on January 15, please pass on to Coun Bertin my congratulations for the brilliant idea to honour the people in our community who have given so much of their time to others.

I would like to nominate one such, who has served the young people in Barry for many years, ie Mr Derek Butler of Gladstone Road, Barry.

Derek has been a 'Barry boy' all his life, attending schools in Barry and Barry College, before joining Dow Corning in Barry, where he spent all his working life.

Since the early 1980s Derek has been involved in our school's governing body; first at Gladstone School, then at Barry Comprehensive, moving to Holton Road School where he has been chair of governors for the past eight years and is still serving.

Derek has also been a maths mentor at Barry Comprehensive and reading help at Gladstone and Holton Road schools. He worked with Young Enterprise at Stanwell School, Penarth.

Alongside all this Derek was founder member of 2nd Barry Boys' Brigade and worked tirelessly as Officer in Charge for over 20 years, helping a great many young boys gain their Duke of Edinburgh awards.

The young people of Barry owe a great deal to Derek and it would be good to see this acknowledged in the way Coun Bertin suggests.

Brenda A Rees, Barry.

Mr Cairns added: "I don't want residents in Barry and the wider Vale to miss out on what I consider to be a vital service."

"Today (Tuesday) I called on the Post Office to prioritise the sites in Barry and Cowbridge. I will keep pressing the case to the operators - local people and small business owners need a postal facility nearby."

It means people are having to travel out of their local area to use a post office - in the case of people in Cowbridge a trip to Llantwit Major is necessary.

This week, the Vale's AM Jane Hutt met with a senior Post Office manager.

She said: "I had a positive discussion with Mr Andrew Tamplin, who confirmed that work is under way to find new providers in Cowbridge and Barry, and the Post Office would be very interested to hear from anybody with an interest in taking on these valuable services."

"Making sure that Cowbridge has a post office is a priority for me and I will not give up trying to find a solution for Highlight Park and Colcot Road. I will be meeting this week with the Co-op, regarding the closure of its Colcot Road post office service."

The GEM asked the Post Office whether what was happening in the Vale was part of a plan of rationalisation.

A spokesman for the company said that wasn't the case - and insisted it was on the look-out for new operators.

The spokesman insisted:

"There is absolutely no rationalisation or closure plan for Post Offices in the Vale, or anywhere else for that matter."

"The Post Office network in Wales is at its most stable for decades, with hundreds of branches being modernised on site or moved to nearby locations, often in conjunction with another business, and in many cases offering customers longer opening hours. "Across the UK, 10 Post Office branches are being modernised every single day in the £2 billion programme."

"When a Post Office agent retires or resigns the local field team work tirelessly to try and find another operator to take on the running of the service."

"We are very sorry for any inconvenience caused while we search for a new operator for the branches."

The spokesman made an appeal to local retailers in Barry.

"We would like to reassure customers that we remain committed to provide Post Office services in the community."

"Any retailer interested in the business opportunity for our Highlight Park and Colcot Road branches should contact us on 0845 266 8790, or email NTquestions@postoffice.co.uk."

Mayor's charity funds defibrillator in Penarth town

THE Mayor of Penarth, Coun Neil Thomas, raised £1,297.42 for his chosen charities, the British Heart Foundation and Penarth Youth Project during his year in office, which ended in May 2014.

One of his aims was to raise enough to buy a life-saving defibrillator to be placed in the town centre.

He said: "There have been a number of serious incidents in Penarth town centre recently and there is a clear need for this device.

"Of course we hope it is never needed, but if it saves one life it is more than worth it. I am delighted to be able to join with the Co-operative store in making this service publicly available if the need arises.

"The Welsh Ambulance Service is providing a Zoll AED plus defibrillator which will be kept in the Co-op store in Windsor Road. They will also be providing training to the staff".

The defibrillator has been officially installed.

Coun Thomas added: "The Co-op store is conveniently located in the town centre, has long opening hours and is keen to support the community, as there is a recognised need.

"While heart problems can strike people of all ages, it becomes an increasingly frequent problem in older populations. Penarth has a comparatively high proportion of older people in our community and the incidence of heart events reflects this".

Plaid man to fight Vale seat

PLAID CYMRU – the Party of Wales, has confirmed that Barry town and Vale of Glamorgan councillor Ian Johnson will be its Vale candidate at the general election on May 7.

He was elected to the Vale Council in 2012 for the Buttrills ward, and Plaid group leader Coun Chris Franks said: "In council, Ian Johnson has led debates calling for the regeneration of Barry, exposed flaws in the Local Development Plan and criticised unfair council cuts when they hurt local people, raising awareness of the decisions taken by the council."

Penarth pupil wins Disney prize for Fairfield school

FAIRFIELD Primary School, Penarth, will receive funding towards sports equipment courtesy of Disney after one of its pupils was highly commended in a national healthy living competition, run as part of National Obesity Awareness Week 2015.

Mustafa Hussain secured a 'highly commended' spot in his age category out of hundreds of entries after submitting a picture diary demonstrating how he remained active every day for a week.

In partnership with Disney, the competition was launched to promote physical activity, in order to tackle obesity. Children and young people across the country were asked to keep and submit a physical activity diary for a week (infant and junior age groups); or to create a new and unique game or sport (secondary school age group).

The rain fails to stop play at Rhws school!

The Rhws Futsal leaders.

WITH the windy and wet weather setting in, free play and structured physical activity on the school field is becoming a distant memory.

So, Rhws Primary School have taken a proactive approach and have introduced Futsal to their Key Stage 2 pupils, as a game which builds on pupils' enthusiasm for football but can be played on a playground surface.

It has famously been promoted by world cup icons such as Lionel Messi and those players who have come from a foundation of Futsal have a confidence with the ball which continues to leave other players in awe.

The priority in Futsal is to motivate players in an environment that is conducive to learning. The more pleasure children get, the more they want to play and practice on their own. While their instinct to play is natural, their affection and appreciation for football must be nurtured and developed.

Futsal is having a really positive effect on pupils' participation in physical activity at break times at Rhws, with new pupils wanting to get involved and play every day.

It is a very inclusive form of football that allows children of all abilities to achieve and develop their skills and confidence. It is also having a positive effect on pupils' behaviour and is allowing pupils to develop a level of sportmanship that is sometimes lacking in competitive football matches.

Year 6 pupils have also taken on leadership roles and are leading and officiating futsal games with the younger pupils. We may well have some future coaches in the making!

The wet weather doesn't hold pupils back during curriculum time either, thanks to the hard work and commitment of a small group of parents and volunteers that make up the 'Friends Of Rhws Primary (FORP)' group.

FORP have invested some of the money they have raised in enhancing pupils' learning experiences in the great outdoors. In 2011, schools inspectorate Estyn said that children under five learn better and develop quicker with outdoor lessons.

Now, pupils are able to access the outdoors in all weathers at Rhws thanks to FORP who have bought wet weather suits (see photo on page 1) which can be used by Foundation Phase pupils allowing them to access outdoor learning whatever the weather. The weather may not be bright but the future is for pupils at Rhws Primary School.

'How the Cardiff Airport can really take off' – GEM reader

I READ with interest Dr Alex Rees's letter in The GEM edition of January 15 and I agree with the comments.

Having visited Auckland Airport on many occasions and used the mini bus shuttle, it is a good swift service at an affordable price. Cardiff could do the same, a 12 or 15 seater would be sufficient.

Expanding Dr Rees' comments on attracting low cost carriers to use the airport, the management of the airport, plus the owners (viz the Welsh Government) should contact all the airlines that fly to and from the eastern seaboard of North America to suggest that they terminate their incoming flights at Cardiff, and also start their outgoing flights from Cardiff.

What are the advantages? By avoiding the congestion at Heathrow, passengers can be transferred to the First Great Western train service to London Paddington. Transfer the passengers by coach to Cardiff Central Station and let them board the hourly service that the train company provides.

Let the airlines group together and charter trains from First Great Western to start at Rhosee station straight to London Paddington. Then they can bus the passengers to Rhosee Station.

The reverse can happen for outbound flights with check-in counters at London Paddington to take the passengers' checked-in baggage straight to Cardiff Airport.

There would also be check-in counters at the airport for those wishing to travel separately.

What will this do? Relieve the pressure on Heathrow and perhaps save the building of a third runway if agreed by all interested parties, by freeing up quite a number of slots at Heathrow.

It would give a tourism boost to Wales as the tourist board will have a great opportunity to promote the attractions and countryside of Wales.

This possible solution could very well attract low cost airlines.

With BA maintenance business already based at the airport, they may like to expand their service to looking after other airlines' aircraft requiring short term maintenance while waiting to fly back to America.

This may sound pie in the sky, but when you start to look at the logistics of such a move, it could prove advantageous in more ways than one.

Water activities centre makes more progress

BARRY Community Water Activities Centre took another major step forward this week with the signing of the land lease. This follows the signing of the water access licence last week.

The land lease is for the agreed site at the east end of 'the Mole', which is the land that juts out into No 1 Dock, and is opposite Morrison's Supermarket.

The trustees (pictured, right) signed the land lease with ABP so that the slipway and infrastructure works can start as soon as the building consortium complete the new road to the Mole, which spurs off the new Barry Island road.

The chairman, Chris Basten, said: "This is an ideal site for the training in sailing, canoeing, rowing in fact almost every form of water sports.

"We are delighted to have concluded the land and water leases and licences, which means we can create a community facility that will make great use of the Barry Waterfront, and hopefully inspire people to take to the water."

An updated website has been launched along with a fundraising scheme at bcwac.org.uk.

The community voluntary organisation is seeking more volunteers, supporters, partners, users, and especially funding streams and grants.

Several phases will result in a very special building that can accommodate training, changing rooms, showers, toilets, and other related facilities.

Speaker tells story of wartime drama at sea

CAPTAIN Dave Jones, the speaker at last week's Barry Men's Forum, recounted his nautical career, from leaving his home in Swansea at the age of 15.

He went to Merseyside, where he signed up as a naval cadet on HMS Conway. Unfortunately, due to the outbreak of the war, his cadetship was delayed until he was aged 16.

He was awarded his cadet ship on September 3, 1939. He was classed as the junior of junior cadets and served five years on active service. He ended up in America, where he sailed in three different fleets as a 4th Navigational Officer.

He missed all his youth because he spent all his time attending nautical courses at both Cardiff and London Universities. He served seven consecutive naval tours around the world.

In January 1942, just south of the equator, his ship was torpedoed by a German U-boat (U156).

Unfortunately, Dave was in the shower when the torpedo struck. He grabbed his life jacket and tried to get on deck, but the exit door was so badly buckled that it could not be opened. He returned to a porthole that had been blown out by the explosion.

In his panic to escape, he forgot all his training and put his life jacket on before climbing through the porthole.

He got wedged halfway and had to climb back inside and remove his lifejacket until he managed to escape from the stricken ship.

The command to abandon ship was given, but was left with only soap suds to hide his modesty! When he arrived at his muster station he asked the captain if he could go back to his cabin for his clothes. He was told to take his place in the life boat.

Both ship's lifeboats were safely launched, with 24 crew on Dave's and 23 on the crew on the second boat.

The U-boat surfaced and told the crew to move away from the damaged ship. Then it continued firing shells into the ship until the ammunition magazine was blown up. This caused it to finally sink. Two crew, were killed in the attack.

The U-boat commander said he could not spare any provisions for them as he was 3,000 miles from his base. He left them to the elements.

During the night, the life boats were separated. After 13 days on starvation rations and little water, they reached the coast of Africa and were eventually repatriated to the UK.

David recounts his wartime adventures in his book The Enemy, My New Friends. After the Russians lifted the 50-year censorship, David was asked by the German Navy to write a German version of his book.

The forum next meets on Thursday, January 29, when Dean Powell will be speaking on the topic of 'Dr Price Archdruid' at Trinity Presbyterian Church Hall, Aberystwyth Crescent, at 10.15am.

New members are very welcome.

VALE COUNCIL SHORTLISTED FOR AN AWARD

THE Vale Council has been shortlisted for a National Tourism Award for Wales in the Best Event category.

The popular Isle of Fire event, which returned to Barry Island for its second outing in the summer, has been chosen alongside four other small events from across Wales vying for the title of best small event in Wales.

The award will see gold, silver, and bronze winners, which will be announced at the gala dinner and awards ceremony at the Vale Resort on Wednesday, March 25.

Run by Visit Wales, the National Tourism Awards for Wales looks to "showcase the very best in Welsh tourism from the best places to stay and eat, to Wales' best event" with 58 businesses and individuals shortlisted across 14 categories.

Cardiff and Vale College hosts an international skills seminar in capital

CARDIFF and Vale College has hosted politicians and policy makers from as far afield as Yemen and Ethiopia – to showcase the Welsh skills sector.

The college was the venue for the first international skills seminar to be held in Wales. Organised by the British Council, it was one of a series held in the UK's four home nation capitals.

Delegates included the Ethiopian State Minister for Education and Egyptian Deputy Minister for vocational education. As well as hosting the event, the college also gave delegates a tour of the International Centre for Aerospace Training (ICAT), based at Cardiff Airport.

The seminar included presentations by Welsh education and business experts. Welsh Government Deputy Minister Julie James explained the Welsh Government's role in supporting technical and vocational education (TVET) in Wales.

Colegau Cymru chief executive Greg Walker talked about the Welsh Further Education system and Sarah Hopkins of Wales and West Utilities gave the employers' view. Rhys Williams and Louise Burnell from GE Aviation Wales talked about the role of apprenticeships in Welsh business.

May Kent, CAVC Vice Principal for Commercial Business Development, spoke of the importance of building links between learning providers and employers.

Instrumentalists give customers a treat in store

TWO winners from last year's Music in the Vale instrumentalist competition, Alex Macted and Nathaniel Alcolado (pictured above) played the Marimba to the delight of Christmas shoppers in John Lewis department store in Cardiff.

The competition is held annually each November and, as last year, will be held at Stanwell School, Penarth during the weekend of November 14-15, giving opportunities to young singers and instrumentalists to perform before professional judges.

Entrants to the 2015 competition should apply to sheelaghlewis@yahoo.co.uk.

AM's plea to support the Vale's farmers

SOUTH Wales Central regional AM, Andrew RT Davies, has called for "strong resolve" from the Welsh Government after one of the country's biggest national brokers for dairy farmers announced plans to defer payment to farmers in order to rebuild their balance sheet.

Mr Davies raised the matter in the Assembly last week and urged the Welsh Government to meet with First Milk and with farming unions. The regional AM said: "There are clearly huge pressures building in the milk industry and recent news will be of deep concern to many in the Vale. "In order to rebuild its balance sheet First Milk has announced a temporary suspension of payments to farmers. When one of the biggest national brokers for dairy farmers does that, you know it's pretty serious."

"Everyone expects the market to dictate the price of milk, but it's not asking too much to get a day's pay for a day's work and this must be a temporary measure or an already delicate situation will deteriorate."

"Clearly this will affect a number of small to medium sized businesses in the Vale and they will be looking to the Welsh Government for strong resolve and support during a difficult period," he added.

LOCAL HEALTH BOARD IS RECRUITING NEW NURSES

NEW nurses will soon be hitting the wards throughout Cardiff and Vale UHB thanks to a series of recruitment events taking place on Saturdays throughout January.

The board is running further recruitment events on January 24 and 31 where candidates can come along and talk to staff and get a first-hand feel for the services run across the organisation.

The first event took place on Saturday (January 17) and saw more than 30 nurses offered posts.

These individuals will be appointed across a range of different areas within the surgical, medicine and specialist services clinical boards. Many of these successful applicants are nursing students who are due to qualify this year.

Claire Vaughan, assistant director of human resources, said: "We have been overwhelmed by the response to the recruitment campaign. We feel very privileged that so many professional and talented nurses have applied to come and work for Cardiff and Vale UHB."

"The feedback received from the interview panels was excellent and the quality of candidates was very high – the panels were particularly delighted with the calibre of students coming through."

On Saturday (January 24) the recruitment event will focus mainly on paediatric nursing with interview slots also available for general adult nurses.

This event has proved very popular with only a few places remaining. To book a place or find out more about these events please contact 02920744321.

Council initiative is a help to local jobs

VALE Council-led Barry Communities are celebrating getting three more young people into paid Jobs Growth Wales placements.

The European Union programme aims to get young people aged 16-24 onto six-month paid placements with companies across Wales.

One local resident, Naomi Moreton, was able to secure a placement with Costa Coffee on Holton Road, Barry, through Barry Communities First support.

Skye Mason and Michelle Andrews were able to secure placements with Little Inspirations Nursery School, Barry.

Elderly people in Llandough get help with their shopping

EAST Vale Community Transport (EVCT) has reported that weekly shopping trips to Tesco for the elderly residents of Llandough resumed on Thursday, January 8.

Paul Morris has recently joined the band of volunteer drivers with EVCT and was enjoying his first 'shopping run' for the Llandough residents.

A spokesman said: "EVCT is looking for volunteers to drive minibuses. As the registered charity struggles to meet demand, many people are left unable to access the transport they need to live a normal life.

"Please check out our volunteer page and find out more about becoming a driver with EVCT."

If you are a Llandough resident who would like to make use of the shopping trips, contact the office or the Llandough Community Council through the clerk to the council Paul Egan (01446 409294); or email: clerk@llandough-cc.co.uk.

£40m boost to support the Welsh NHS in tough times

LAST week, I made an additional £40million available to the Welsh NHS – to respond to winter pressures which are being experienced throughout the UK.

The extra funding comes from the Welsh Government's reserves, and our announcement matches an allocation of funding made by the UK Government to help deal with the winter pressures in England.

Pressures on the NHS in Wales have included the busiest GP out-of-hour services experienced during the festive period since they were established; and hospital emergency departments across Wales reporting an increase in admissions of patients with acute conditions, complex needs and dependency.

The Welsh Ambulance Service has also seen a significant rise in the most critically-ill patients using its services.

I announced more funding for the Welsh NHS in the final Budget for 2015/16 agreed by the Assembly before Christmas and

by
Jane Hutt
AM (Minister for Finance)

enhanced by extra funding in the autumn statement.

This means increased investment in our Welsh NHS of more than half a billion pounds over two years, showing our commitment as a Welsh Labour Government to our Health Service in Wales and our commitment to the people who work in the NHS and to all those who use the service.

There was good news last week about the impact of extra funding for the Welsh NHS with the third Wales annual report for cancer showing improved survival rates as a result of new and more effective treatments, meaning many more people can now expect to live longer after their treatment.

We also expect to see improvements in the coming year in the percentage of newly-diagnosed patients who are treated within 62 days. This will be backed by the extra funding for new MRI and CT Scanners in our hospitals across Wales.

There will be £1.5m for Abertawe Bro Morgannwg University Health Board – which will provide an additional CT scanner for the Princess of Wales Hospital. There will be £1.5m to Cardiff and Vale University Health Board, which will provide a new CT scanner in the main department at Cardiff's University Hospital of Wales and will allow the existing CT scanner to be relocated to the emergency radiology department.

Over the past week, the Health and Social Service Minister, Professor Mark Drakeford, has thanked the staff in the NHS, social care and social services. He has said that staff are – “working tirelessly, often in difficult situations, to ensure that those people who have needed urgent and emergency care have received high-quality treatment and services and have been treated with care and compassion.”

As Finance Minister for Wales, I am determined to play my part in supporting our NHS staff with the extra funding I have announced to improve our GP and hospital services, supporting doctors, nurses and all health professionals, alongside their partners in social care and social services.

FOUR TEENAGERS SENTENCED AFTER SERIOUS ASSAULT

FOUR teenagers have each been given sentences of 12 months in prison at Cardiff Magistrates Court, after a serious assault in Barry.

The sentencing came after the assault took place on Friday, August 15 around 10pm on Broad Street, Barry.

The victim, a 19-year-old man from Barry, was struck several times to the face during the attack and suffered a broken jaw.

PC Nicola Owen said: “This was a particularly nasty attack and the sentencing has brought these four violent offenders to justice. They conducted this horrific assault with intent to injure and terrorise the victim. We hope this result shows South Wales Police's priority of protecting people from harm”.

The four teenagers, aged 16 and 17 years of age, each received 12-month custodial sentences. Another teenager, aged 15 years old, who was also involved in the assault was given a referral order with a curfew attached.

Tough measures to reduce anti-social behaviour in Barry have been introduced. Officers will use the Anti-Social behaviour Act to break up groups of youths they believe to be harassing people in the town.

The Act enables officers to disperse groups if they are intimidating, alarming, harassing or causing distress to any members of the public, police said.

£224,780 Lottery cash for project

THE Big Lottery is awarding a grant to the Vale Council to help boost employment on the Vale of Glamorgan Heritage Coast.

The project, led by the council's rural development team, Creative Rural Communities, aims to encourage the economic development of coastal communities.

The £224,760 will be used to support expansion and creation of micro enterprises in the area. Funding has also been awarded to replace the existing slipway at Dunraven Bay in Southerndown, along with storage units for on and off shore activities.

Coun Lis Burnett, cabinet member for regeneration, said: “We are delighted that the Big Lottery has awarded this grant to support an area often regarded as a hidden gem by many.”

“This project will boost tourism in the area and build upon the excellent work delivered through our rural development programme.”

First Minister replies to critics of Welsh NHS Cancer drug fund: why Wales has opted for a different approach

THERE'S been a lot of discussion over the last few months comparing the NHS in Wales and England, particularly with regard to cancer – so let's look at the facts.

If you live in Wales, you have £10 per head more spent on your cancer care than in England. You are also more likely to be seen within target treatment times. You will have faster access to approved drugs. You will see a state-of-the-art, brand new cancer treatment centre being built at Velindre over the next few years.

Much of the debate has concentrated on the cancer drugs fund in England, which we don't have in Wales – but there are rational reasons for this. In both England and Wales, there is a body called the National Institute for Care and Health Excellence (NICE), which looks at new drugs and decides whether they are value for money; does their cost justify their effectiveness for certain conditions? Some drugs are approved for use in the NHS, but some are turned down.

In England, it's possible for these non-approved drugs to be funded via the cancer drugs fund.

However, England has just introduced a new value for money element there as well, which defeats the whole object of the fund.

In Wales, we have another body,

by CARWYN JONES AM

called the All Wales Medicines Strategy Group, which evaluates new medicines that haven't been through the NICE process for use in the NHS.

People can also apply for funding for drugs for any condition, not just cancer, which aren't available on the NHS through the IPFR system.

The problem with the English system is that in the past, companies whose drugs were rejected as too expensive often came back with a lower price.

That discipline is no longer there, so the price of cancer drugs is higher than it should be. It also discriminates against people with other serious conditions, such as MS or heart disease, who can't get access to drugs in the same way.

Sadly, the drugs funded through England's fund are not life-saving drugs. For some people, it's true to say their lives might be extended – sometimes for weeks, sometimes more. Those drugs can also be funded in Wales under the IPFR process, according to a person's circumstances.

These are always difficult decisions. In England, they've focused on drugs; we focus on treatment and speed of access to treatment.

We know from the events of the last few weeks that Whitehall is in no position to lecture us on the NHS after the various emergencies declared in English hospitals, which I take no satisfaction from.

We've also seen the Prime Minister plead that the English NHS shouldn't be a political football, while kicking the Welsh NHS all over the park.

The NHS deserves an honest approach. There is greater and greater demand and we, as a society, need to think about how we fund it and what our expectations should be. London politicians attacking the Welsh NHS undermines that approach.

THE WINTER BEES KEEP QUEEN ALIVE

NOT a lot of external activity – the very changeable weather means that bees cannot get out as much as they would like to.

Remember that honeybees do not hibernate, if temperatures are around 10°C or above, they do become active and will leave the hive on short cleansing flights (toilet requirements). However, reports of spring flowers already beginning to show will see more bee excursions if dry spells come along.

We may not notice it but the days are getting longer. The double figure temperatures that are not the norm for January can easily trigger a Queen bee to start laying in an attempt to produce new young bees to replace the overwinter bees that are now some months old.

The winter bees are the longest lived because they are not out foraging, or building comb, or tending to the myriad of tasks that spring and summer bees have to contend with.

Their job is to keep the Queen alive and this is achieved thanks to the stores that their now dead sisters provided to get a colony through the winter months; these winter bees will start to die off simply because they are old.

How old is old? Well summer bees will be lucky to live six weeks because of the demands of an expanding colony i.e. hive temperature to control, eggs to tend, larvae that has developed from eggs to feed, nectar and pollen has to be gathered and stored etc.

Our winter bees do work to control the temperature in the hive (by shivering) but because their workload is much less demanding, their lifespan is greater.

Along with other beekeepers, I am visiting the apiaries under my control to check the weight of the hives and to look for bees that are venturing out and letting me know that I still have live bees. The weight assessment is done by simply going to the back of the hive and tilting it forward; this very rudimentary approach does give me some indication about the stores within and I can make a decision to feed or leave well alone.

At present, I am managing the following apiaries: Fonnmon, Aberthaw Power Station, Cardiff training at Dyffryn Gardens and, come the spring, a new apiary will be started at Lafarge cement works in East Aberthaw.

The fact that two local industries that are often berated as polluters are putting up funds and materials to aid the survival of the honeybee, has to be applauded.

My apiary at Fonnmon was established long before I went there, and the value of the honeybee to the environment has always known to the residents of the castle. Dyffryn apiary was established thanks to the then Vale Council.

It is now a National Trust property and their controllers are very keen to see beekeeping continued.

All pollinators are facing an uphill struggle; it is up to those who can make a difference to do so.

Swarming bees kept beekeepers busy last year.

A CHANCE ENCOUNTER AT VALE SHOW UNCOVERS A FAMILY LINK

I NEVER knew Llewelin Jones. I remember my grandfather, who died in 1964, telling me that Llewelin was his elder brother.

Llewelin was one of six children born into a farming family at Blaennant Farm, Pontardawe, in the Swansea Valley.

Both my grandfather and Llewelin farmed after leaving Blaennant – my grandfather at Alltwen, Pontardawe, and Llewelin at Milford Haven. One other thing I remember being told is that both my grandfather and Llewelin were members of the Glamorgan Yeomanry in the early 1900s. As my grandfather was 80 when he died, I believe that Llewelin had died some time before this.

Back in August, I was casually strolling around the Vale of Glamorgan Show. I had planned my afternoon to attend different events and had a spare half hour before attending a presentation on the history of Hendrewennol Fruit Farm.

I came across a tent housing the Western Front Association, which I had not seen on previous visits to the show. I think it was probably there to commemorate the centenary of the outbreak of the World War One.

As I have always had an interest in military history, I went inside the tent and viewed the maps, medals, badges, helmets and other insignia on display. I started to talk to a gentleman named Mike, who was in charge of the displays.

He asked me whether any of my family had been involved in World War One, and I said I thought it very unlikely, since I had lost contact with my father's family many years earlier and on my mother's side, were several generations of farmers.

I then remembered the Glamorgan Yeomanry, and told Mike that both my grandfather and my great uncle, Llewelin, had been members of the Glamorgan Yeomanry in the early 1900s, but that I didn't think this could be regarded as military service.

I also told him that I still had an inscribed prize which Llewelin had won in a rifle competition organised by the Yeomanry in 1907.

Mike then told me that quite a number of the Glamorgan Yeomanry had transferred into the regular army and had served on the Western Front in France and Belgium during the war, whereupon he asked me for Llewelin's full name.

I told him Llewelin H Jones – although I didn't know what the H stood for. He also asked me for Llewelin's address. I said that I didn't really know other than he had been born at Blaennant Farm in the parish of Cilfynydd, Pontardawe.

Mike suddenly stared at me in disbelief. His eyes seemed to get bigger and his jaw dropped. In a quivering voice he said: "I've got his war medals".

He then referred to a sheaf of papers he had at his side, and said: "I've been researching your great uncle's military history at the National Archives. His full name was Llewelin Hopkin Jones. He was born on July 29, 1879. He applied for transfer into the regular army on July 30, 1915. He was educated at St John's College School and Lampeter College, Cardiganshire. His application form states that he wished to serve in the Army Service Corps, Horse Transport."

"His Army service record shows that he was commissioned as a Second Lieutenant on November 27, 1915, promoted to Lieutenant on July 1, 1917, and to Captain on October 1, 1918. He was demobbed on November 13, 1919, to an address given as Cefn-y-Don, Elm Grove, Aberdare, south Wales."

It was now my turn to be amazed. I had difficulty in understanding that someone I had never met before that day, could have more information about a member of my family than I ever had.

I asked Mike what medals Llewelin had been awarded. He replied that Llewelin had been awarded two service medals. Apparently, Llewelin had missed out on the third service medal because he hadn't been in the army in 1914.

Mike added that he was sorry but the medals were not for sale. However, he'd be very happy to let me have photocopies of the documents he had turned up in his research.

I gave him my name and address and told him that I would send him a photograph of Llewelin and a further photograph of the inscribed prize he had won in 1907.

I was thrilled to receive photocopies from Mike a few days later. I noted that when Llewelin went to the Western Front he was a single man. On being demobbed he was stated to be married.

This to me was confirmation that he had married while he was in France because I remember that at my grandfather's funeral in 1964 Llewelin's wife, Marte, attended the cremation service together with her son Gaston.

Gaston continued the family tradition in farming. From Milford Haven he moved to a farm outside Shaftesbury in Dorset. Gaston's son still farms there today.

As I left Mike's tent at the show, he said that I'd made his day. He had certainly made mine, too.

Footnote:

After World War One, three service medals were awarded. They were nicknamed Pip, Squeak and Wilfred, after three characters who appeared in a cartoon strip published in the Daily Mirror in 1919. Although Llewelin was not entitled to 'Pip', the 1914 Star, he was awarded 'Squeak' the British War Medal and 'Wilfred', the Victory Medal.

PLAN AHEAD FOR THE PERFECT CONSERVATORY OR ORANGERY EXTENSION

When is the best time to start planning for a new conservatory or orangery?

It's a question we are asked frequently at Securahome, and the answer is, as soon as you can.

With many conservatories, the process from consultation to build is quick and straightforward. However if, for example, your house has previously been extended, you want an orangery extension or drainage needs to be moved, it can take months rather than weeks to get any necessary approvals.

At Securahome, we act as project manager on every new conservatory or orangery build and frequently deal with extensions that require permissions. In our experience it pays to allow at least 10 weeks for authority planning permission, with sewer agreements often involving a similar timescale.

When it comes to design, there are plenty of options to consider. Once you've spoken to a conservatory or orangery specialist, allow time to consider the layout and how you will use your new room as well as those all-important design features, before formal plans are drawn up and submitted.

This is your home, so it is important that everything is perfect.

In gardening terms, to ensure that you are sitting back in your new room when there's blossom on the trees, it makes good sense to set

Simmons steals the show as Whiplash marches to his beat

WHILE he had been a busy bit-part player for some time, it was his scene-stealing as Daily Bugle editor J Jonah Jameson in Sam Raimi's Spider-Man films that really brought JK Simmons to the fore.

Since then, Simmons has managed to be the best thing in the majority of the films he's been in, lending support in the likes of Juno, Burn After Reading and many others.

Simmons is now front and centre, sharing top billing with Miles Teller in Whiplash, writer/director Damien Chazelle's tale of Andrew, a young drummer who enrolls at a music school and finds himself under the tutelage of Fletcher (Simmons), a man who will stop at nothing to get the best out of his students, going to lengths that will either make – or break – Andrew...

We've all seen the film where a promising, unpolished talent comes under the wing of a tough, uncompromising older head; tough love turns to mutual respect and eventually everyone is happy and the credits roll. Well, Whiplash may appear to be that film, but delve underneath its surface and it's so much more, a study in perfecting your art form, fighting against seemingly insurmountable psychological odds, and the price of achieving your dreams – it's one of the most electrifying and thrilling films in recent memory.

The story is based on Damien Chazelle's own experiences of playing in a jazz band, and it gives him a familiarity that transfers to the screen with stylish aplomb. The script is a tauter than a snare drum, yet is loaded with depth in terms of the characters.

It's a two-hander, more or less, Andrew's eager student finding himself pushing against the irrepressible force of nature that is Fletcher, but Chazelle constantly keeps both Andrew and the audience on their toes. Just when you think you have a handle on Fletcher, the rug gets swept away, Chazelle teasing you by constantly undercutting Fletcher's 'villainy' – making you wonder who he really is and just how bad can he be.

There is an influence of Black Swan present here, the direction occasionally using the fever dream visuals that were used in Darren Aronofsky's study of an artist (in Black Swan's case, a ballerina) in mental breakdown through pushing themselves to fit into their master's whims.

Andrew goes from being prodded to being pushed but, much like Natalie Portman's Nina, never knows when, nor being willing, to quit.

Chazelle's direction is frenetic and wonderfully stylish, the use of colour and editing giving the film a mood of its own, while the drum-heavy soundtrack plays its part in establishing the atmosphere, the combination of these elements creating the film's identity incredibly well. The well-written characters aren't wasted, with both Miles Teller and JK Simmons on truly sensational form.

The latter has the showier role, Fletcher's temperament and quick-fire anger being gobbled up by the actor who seems to relish having such a juicy part to sink his teeth into.

But it's Teller who does the real heavy lifting, perfectly conveying Andrew's journey in a performance that is far less flash, but does just as good a job, Andrew's slight cockiness giving way to terror.

However, undeniably it will be Simmons' performance that will leave you shaking come the end of the film, the consistently-impressive actor finding a role that may end up becoming as quotable as Daniel Plainville in terms of single-minded, seemingly heartless men, with most of his invective hurled at anyone who dare displease him, far too foul-mouthed to reprint here; suffice to say, Simmons and Chazelle have created a band leader from hell.

That it climaxes in a manner normally befitting a sports film, as you wonder whether or not Andrew can grab a victory that may almost be pyrrhic in nature, is just another reason to admire the freshness and intensity that Chazelle brings to proceedings, as Whiplash is, especially for a first-time writer/director, a mesmerisingly accomplished effort.

VERDICT: A jaw-droppingly superb film, Whiplash will most certainly leave a lasting impact on you. First-time writer/director Damien Chazelle shows incredible promise in an assured debut, that showcases a quietly brilliant turn from Miles Teller and JK Simmons on fine, scenery (and music pupil) chewing form. A truly mesmerising and accomplished work.

Essential viewing.

Thingumijigs, the ceilidh band with a big heart!

THE next time you enjoy an evening of live music, you may be helping other people and charities in a way you hadn't even thought about.

How could that be? Well, if the band you're listening to is going to give away all their hard-earned cash to charity, that's just what you'll be doing.

That's what local ceilidh band 'Thingumijigs' do with all the money they earn from playing at ceilidhs, weddings, birthday parties, school dances, etc.

At the end of each financial year, all the money raised is put into a lump sum, and band members vote to decide how the cash should be divided up amongst all the good charitable causes.

The band take nothing in expenses. Your ticket price goes straight to charity. You listen and dance; charities benefit!

So who profited last year from the hours and hours of practice and playing? There were several lucky recipients; Velindre Cancer Care had a cheque for £410, followed by Great Ormond Street Children's Hospital, who had another cheque for £350.

The rest of the £1,000 earmarked for distribution went to the Marfan Association (for sufferers of Marfan Syndrome and Overlapping Disorders), the International Tortoise Association at Sully, Ham Lane School, and the Amur Leopard and Tiger Association.

To help Thingumijigs raise even more money for charity this year, while having a great night out, come to their next ceilidh at St Donats

Arts Centre on Saturday, February 7. Don't worry if you've never danced before – Pat Smith (who called for Gavin and Stacey's famous barn dance) will soon have you making the right moves!

Car enthusiasts hit top gear to raise funds for charity

Bridgend MGOC chairman, Paul Bullock, presents a cheque to Gwyneth Poacher from Sandville.

MEMBERS of Bridgend MG Owners' Club made a special trip to the Sandville Self Help Centre in Porthcawl to present a cheque from its fundraising efforts throughout the year.

The local classic car club presented a cheque for £500 to Nurse Director Gwyneth Poacher MBE, which was raised from proceeds from the club's annual Cwm to Coast Run.

The run, held each June, attracts classic car enthusiasts from across the UK to take part in a fundraising road run, followed by supper at a local eatery.

Earlier in the year, a further donation of £500 was presented to the charity, making a total of £1,000 from the club's fundraising efforts in 2014.

Club chairman Paul Bullock said: "We are delighted to continue our long-standing support of Sandville Self Help Centre."

"Over the past decade, we have seen at first hand the wonderful work that the charity does for local people and their families when they are suffering from ill health."

"It is lovely to be able to combine our hobby with raising funds for a very worthwhile and much-needed local charity."

Club members visited Sandville to hear from Gwyneth and her volunteers about the current demand on the service, and see the latest facilities that Sandville can offer to local people who use the centre. ST

Two Vale fundraisers praised at No 10 meeting

BARRY community champions Susan Borges and Christine Tutton met Samantha Cameron at 10 Downing Street last week, after being nominated by Vale MP Alun Cairns.

Mrs Borges is a fundraiser for Marie Curie Cancer Care, and has worked for a number of years to raise money to provide care for people with terminal illnesses.

Christine Tutton is the chairperson of the RNLI Barry Dock Lifeboat fundraising branch, and has raised thousands for the organisation over many years.

Both were invited to Downing Street as part of a 'charity champions' reception which celebrated their work in the local community. Alun Cairns and Samantha Cameron heaped praise on them for their achievements.

Mr Cairns said: "Susan and Christine deserve huge credit for all of the work they have done, and I was delighted to introduce them to Samantha Cameron.

"She was extremely impressed and paid tribute to them for the work they have done.

"They give up so much of their time to help Marie Curie and the RNLI, and we in the Vale are all proud of them."

Samantha Cameron commented: "It was a privilege to meet Susan Borges and Christine Tutton from Marie Curie and the RNLI at 10 Downing Street.

"Their amazing work is changing the lives of individuals and families across Barry and it was an honour to celebrate their work at the reception for charity champions."

Susan Borges said: "It was a real honour to meet Samantha Cameron at Downing Street and to tell her about the work Marie Curie does. The organisation relies on many hardworking volunteers and I was pleased to see this recognised."

Christine Tutton added: "Samantha Cameron was very complimentary about the work we all do at the RNLI in Barry.

"Everybody in the organisation can be proud of all that they have done."

Volunteers grieve for RNLI stalwart John

VOLUNTEERS at Porthcawl RNLI lifeboat were saddened to hear that John Blundell has died on January 19.

John was instrumental in getting the RNLI to establish a lifeboat in Porthcawl and following negotiations, the station was opened in 1965.

He served the station as honorary secretary, now known as lifeboat operations manager, in the early years and then station committee chairman for almost 40 years.

Philip Missen MBE, Porthcawl lifeboat operations manager said: "Our thoughts today go out to John's family. He certainly was an RNLI stalwart and would still attend the lifeboat station most Sunday mornings up until just a couple of years ago when illness prevented his visits.

"It is very sad that he will not be with us to celebrate the 50th anniversary of the station opening, especially since he was the driving force and had the foresight to see the need for the RNLI to re-open a base at Porthcawl.

"That foresight has meant that our volunteers have saved many lives during those years since 1965."

Oil4Wales to help farmers with cashflow amid milk price wars

Local oil distributor Oil 4 Wales is helping First Milk customers by extending its payment terms to ease cashflow concerns following the announcement by First Milk to withhold milk payments to farmers.

The announcement came following a price war in leading supermarkets which has seen the price of milk fall to its lowest since 2007. In some major supermarkets a pint of milk is now as little as 22p a litre, making it cheaper than some bottled water.

The National Farmers Union and Farmers For Action have reported that the minimum price for milk that producers can survive on is 30p a litre and there is now a fear that this price war will drive many Welsh farmers out of business.

It is often the case that only 50-60% of the retail price is paid to farmers, making the current market unsustainable for many farmers, which is why the number of dairy farmers has halved in just over a decade.

As part of its commitment to the farming community of Wales, family run business Oil 4 Wales has launched a new payment initiative giving farmers more time to pay their bills during this difficult time.

Oil 4 Wales supply red diesel, gas oil and kerosene to agricultural customers throughout Wales. It supplies fuels to a number of farms, small holdings and farming groups, promising a same or next day delivery and fair price.

Colin Owens, managing director of Oil4 Wales, said: "We appreciate it is a difficult time for farmers with the price of milk falling and the future of dairy companies being uncertain, which is why we're keen to help in any way possible."

"As our slogan is 'working with the community, for the community' extending our payment terms is just one way we've demonstrated our commitment to the local farming community. We suggest that any First Milk customers therefore contact their local Oil 4 Wales depot to discuss their requirements further. We hope this will help Welsh farmers in the short term in a bid to ensure they have a sustainable future."

Oil 4 Wales is an independent, family run oil distribution company. The company, which supplies a range of fuel services to homes, businesses, commercial premises, agricultural and retail customers, supplies over 35,000 customers in Wales delivered by 21 vehicles.

For more information visit www.oil4wales.co.uk and to order fuel call your local depot - Cardiff: 02920 674 910. Boiler maintenance: 0800 433 4353.

SIX NATIONS RUGBY

2015 FIXTURES

As the world's oldest rugby tournament prepares to kick-off... Six with but a single thought – to gain an edge for RWC 2015!

Who will wear the Crown?

THE world's oldest international rugby tournament began life as the four home nations championship in 1883, became the Five Nations with the formal inclusion of France in 1910, and finally evolved into the Six Nations in 2000, when Italy was admitted to the exclusive club – which after 132 years is still going strong.

In fact, if anything on the eve of this year's opening clashes, interest is even more intense – given extra significance with the 2015 Rugby World Cup taking place on 'home soil' in the autumn.

Each of the six will aim to use the Six Nations, not only to claim the coveted championship title, but to secure a vital psychological edge over rivals they are likely to meet when the world comes to the UK.

First up on Friday, February 6, will be the renewal of a close-fought rivalry between Wales and England, who each boast 26 championship wins outright since the early days (though Wales has also shared the title 10 times).

Despite the long, barren years when Welsh rugby was plunged into gloom after the bright light that shone on the '70s 'superstars' faded, the two nations are almost level pegging – with England on 12 Grand Slams and Wales on 11. The men in white have also claimed 24 Triple Crowns to Wales' 20.

Not that it should be assumed, of course, that the title race will be decided between these two – with many pundits predicting there will be no outright winner.

Last year's championship winners, and bookies' favourites, Ireland, will have something to say about that.

The men in green were level with England over the five games, but took the title by virtue of a better points tally to add to their solitary Grand Slam.

And let us not forget the boys in blue – the Scots have also been making strides under their new coach and will see a fourth Grand Slam and/or 11th Triple Crown as well within their reach.

There is also the lurking, if unpredictable threat from over the Channel, with France anxious to put recent travails behind them and lay down a World Cup marker by adding to their nine Grand Slams.

The captain and the coach.

Finally, there are the outsiders from Italy who would dearly love to finally prove themselves with their first Grand Slam in the Six Nations.

All in all, it promises to be a very tasty starter to the RWC main course later this year!

On Tuesday, Wales' head coach Warren Gatland unveiled his 34-man squad, which showed few surprises.

As expected, new recruit from Kiwi land's homeland, Welsh-qualified Gareth Anscombe, has done enough in nine games at the Blues to warrant inclusion as a utility back, though at the expense of the ever-unlucky James Hook.

Another notable absentee, is the man once said to be the first name on the Wales team sheet, tight head Adam Jones, despite a current prop 'crisis' and his improved form since switching from the Ospreys to the Blues.

However, it is no surprise to see new kid on the block Tyler Morgan in the national frame, after his explosive exploits for the Dragons. Rob

Evans (Scarlets) and Kristian Dacey (Blues) are the other uncapped players in the squad.

READERS' LETTERS EXTRA

The GEM is attacked – for printing article in Welsh!

IT is not the practice of this newspaper to publish anonymous letters to the Editor, but this week we make an exception.

The following unsigned letter was mailed to The GEM last week, amazingly taking us to task for having the audacity to publish an article in Welsh!

The writer, who actually claims to be Welsh, accuses us of "pandering to the minority by bringing Welsh to The GEM", asserting that Cowbridge has always been "an oasis of Englishness".

While The GEM is predominantly printed in English, as a community newspaper that, after all, is published in WALES, we aim to be inclusive, and make no apology for including what for many is still the mother tongue in our weekly coverage. While the unknown writer is entitled to his or her view, it's a pity this was sent under a cloak of anonymity.

The anonymous letter in full:

'COWBRIDGE is unique, successful and a special town because it has always been very un-Welsh.'

'You are now pandering to the minority by bringing Welsh to The GEM.'

'This is alienating other Welsh people – believe me, there are many, many of them who disagree with promoting the Welsh language (I am Welsh).'

'It is no surprise that many are now moving away to secure better education, better paid jobs and a better lifestyle.'

'Wales does not attract the best talent because of its insistence on the Welsh language.'

'Cowbridge has always been an oasis of Englishness, and the town's character has been the reason for its popularity.'

'What a shame The GEM has not recognised that once the town's difference is eroded, we will lose the reason why people value it. The majority of people in this town do not want more Welsh.'

'Would The GEM like to publish how much all this Welsh language nonsense is costing? It is a total waste of money that could be better spent on improving the local economy in Wales.'

Fresh threat to Cowbridge

DR CHRIS PEARCE has highlighted the latest threat to Cowbridge (The GEM, December 4 and January 15). We have been here before!

Ten years ago, an opportunistic developer (Bellway) attempted to ambush the people of Cowbridge with an application for 145 houses on the green fields of Darren Farm. The proposal was not in the Unitary Development Plan (UDP).

With the support of over 1,000 signatories, Dr Pearce represented the town's objections at a public enquiry, where the planning inspector decisively rejected the proposal.

A new opportunistic application, for 390 houses and a link road, has now been submitted to develop the same green field site and, once again, the proposal is not in the UDP.

This time, the developers (CEG) are trying a PR charm offensive to persuade Cowbridge people that a population increase of 1,000 people and 500 cars (my estimates) will not have a harmful impact on the town.

For more proportionate and acceptable growth, the residents group have identified eight sustainable sites for up to 100 houses inside the settlement boundary. Also, there is a more compliant large brown field site within three miles of the town at Llandow.

Why do we enjoy living in Cowbridge so much? Probably because the people of Cowbridge, rather than politicians, developers and their PR agencies, know best what is right for Cowbridge; and because residents and the residents group have fought over many decades to protect our successful market town and sustainable community.

All residents and visitors who value our town, and the quality of life that it offers, should object to this latest threat.

Please go to www.savedarrenfarm.co.uk where Dr Pearce has listed the many sound planning reasons for objecting; and where they can find out the procedure for delivering their objections to the Vale Council. The closing date for objections is February 5.

Steven A Thomas, Llanblethian.

Greater risk of flooding in town?

A SERIOUS point that seems overlooked is that all the drainage from Darren Farm goes down to the River Thaw just above Cowbridge. The proposed development with its extra roofs, pavements and roads will increase run-off enormously and exacerbate flooding in Cowbridge and Llanblethian.

Catchment ponds are no solution because the worst flooding occurs after prolonged rain when such ponds are already overflowing.

Bernard Leake, Geologist, Llanblethian.

'Need for inquiry into the NHS'

SO the number of people waiting more than four hours to be seen at casualty units in Wales has risen to the highest level for five years, which is certainly not good news.

According to official stats, around 20 per cent of A&E patients have waited longer than the target of four hours to be seen.

This is damning news for the Welsh Government and is further proof that Welsh Labour are just not doing a good enough job of looking after our health service in Wales.

Why are they denying us an independent public inquiry into the failings of the Welsh NHS? It is time for the Welsh Ministers to stop running scared and coming up with feeble excuses and start to be more open, honest and transparent about the poor state of our NHS. Let us have that inquiry now!

That said, I think we need to thank our Welsh NHS staff who under extremely tough and challenging circumstances continue with their excellent commitment. We know it is not your fault but that of the politicians down in Cardiff Bay. Coun Richard Bertin, Barry, Independent, Vale of Glamorgan Council.

Where will people live in rural Vale?

'Cultural vandalism' – 'Threat to historic rural village' screams a headline to a letter from Elizabeth Nash of Colwinston (The GEM, January 15).

I agree that Colwinston, like Penmark and many more villages in the rural Vale is an idyll to which many of us cannot subscribe and we cannot afford to live there.

Furthermore, as I do not own a car and will soon be wheelchair bound, Colwinston is not an ideal place to live.

It is in a beautiful location with an excellent public house, but I do think there is more than a hint of NIMBYism, ie "Not In My Back Yard" in Ms Nash's letter.

No one can argue that we do need more housing in the Vale; this will also be welcomed by businesses in the area, such as the said public house.

More people = more consumers of ale and meals, probably, being Colwinston, from social groups 'A' and 'B'.

I can only assume the writer is a Socialist, or, sacre bleu, a Communist, as she condemns capitalism and the profit motive – Mr Cairns MP take note.

She talks about disenfranchisement, "wilful abuse of power..." "without redress..." "the financial power of large commercial organisations."

Who are they? It reminds me of the late Harold Wilson PM.

He always blamed our economic woes on the 'Gnomes of Zurich'!

We never did track down these mysterious personages.

Maybe it is they who are threatening Colwinston, already drinking their Pimm's No 1 in the local hostelry?

In the meantime, where will people live? Christopher Short, Barry.

Welsh hot tub company wins Canadian award

AQUA Spas & Pools, based at Atlantic Gate, near Barry, has been awarded best dealer for substantial growth and outstanding performance in 2014.

The business, which specialises in quality hot tubs with innovation, won the award at the Coast Spas manufacturing conference in Vancouver, BC, Canada, last week.

A spokesman said: "We were totally overwhelmed with the award, which also resulted in a skiing trip to the world's best ski resort in Whistler. It also showed our commitment to supporting hundreds of hot tub projects in 2014 throughout south Wales."

"We thank our local customers and look forward to getting many more bubbling in 2015. Visit our new website at www.coastspaswales.co.uk and www.aquaspas.co.uk, for hot tubs starting from under £3k."

Three local finalists on short list for awards

THREE local finalists on the short list for Tidy Wales awards have been unveiled, including Friends of Barry Beaches, Wenvoe Wildlife Group, and Bridgend Rail Station.

Supported by the Welsh Government and Natural Resources Wales, the awards recognise volunteering groups throughout Wales who work to improve their local environment by reducing litter, protecting wildlife habitats, and reducing the impact of poverty.

The three shortlisted groups for each category will be invited to attend an award ceremony in Cardiff on February 26, hosted by S4C presenter Sian Thomas and former Welsh rugby star, Tom Shanklin.

Friends of Barry Beaches have been shortlisted for the Coastal Improvement Award, sponsored by Dŵr Cymru Welsh Water.

Volunteers meet monthly to carry out beach cleaning in the Barry area. In the last four years they have collected 680 bags of rubbish and 720 bags of recycling.

The group also work to educate the public about the danger of litter to marine wildlife.

Wenvoe Wildlife Group has been shortlisted for the Biodiversity Award – the group's Community Orchard at Wenvoe Playing Fields has continued to develop over the past year.

Volunteers have transformed an unused patch of council-owned land that was prone to flooding into a productive and attractive community orchard, with fruit trees, pond, wildflower area, species-rich hedgerow and bee hotel.

Bridgend Railway Station is shortlisted for the Best Staffed Station Award, which recognises great facilities and conditions for the public.

It is sponsored by Arriva Trains Wales, the official transport provider for the Tidy Wales Awards.

EweMove wins the best newcomer at awards

EWEMOVE were awarded silver for best newcomer at The Estate Agency of the Year Awards 2014, in association with The Sunday Times and The Times and sponsored by Zoopla Property Group.

After "an incredible year" with many new branches launching across the UK, rapidly growing sales and letting agent EweMove, a well-received addition to the Vale property market since being set up in March 2014, were "delighted" with a win that rounds off a successful year for the growing business.

On December 5, over 650 leading estate agents from throughout the UK attended a glittering ceremony at The Lancaster London Hotel opposite Hyde Park where the winners of the most highly regarded awards in the estate agency industry were revealed.

The winners were presented with their awards by Michelle Mone OBE, founder of international lingerie brand Ultimo, with TV newscaster Penny Smith acting as compere.

Award winners were decided by a panel of 19 industry experts, who assessed initial entry submissions before conducting an extensive review of the entrants, which included over 150 hours of telephone interviews and mystery shopping exercises. The process was overseen by the Property Ombudsman, Christopher Hamer, and Mark Hayward, managing director of the NAEA acted as Arbiter.

Now in its 12th year as a dedicated competition, the awards have become widely recognised as the most prestigious and difficult to win. With more entrants than ever before, over 5,000 offices were represented this year.

EweMove, winners of the Newcomer category received the award following success earlier in the year after winning an Innovation award at the Lettings Agency of the Year Awards and being shortlisted for best property management. Local branch directors of EweMove Vale of Glamorgan, Karen Treweek and Richard Cook commented: "We're delighted to receive this award! It's a real honour for our innovative approach to estate agency to be recognised with such a prestigious award."

"We pride ourselves on working harder than any other agent to deliver results for our clients, we get our sellers' and landlords' homes more interest, more quickly. We also operate a 24/7 service, making sure that any viewing, enquiry, property application or purchase offer is never lost."

"It's obvious really, most people search for houses online when they've finished work, or at weekends - precisely when most other agents are shut. They're missing a trick, as we get lots of enquiries during these periods; so our clients don't miss out."

A website listing all the winning companies with comments from the judges as to why they won can be found at www.estateagencyoftheyear.com or EweMove's summary can be found at <http://estateagencyoftheyear.com/ewe-move/index.html>.

Porthcawl's marina and harbour plan gets £300K vote of confidence

A CGI of how the harbour would look should the maritime centre be completed. (Image by icreate).

Report by PHILIP IRWIN

ABOVE: The boat rack which has a capacity of 36 boats. (Rack designed by BDML, image by icreate).

A community project that aims to transform the harbour area in neighbouring Porthcawl, has received a vote of confidence – and more importantly, almost £300,000 in cash!

The ultimate aim for the Porthcawl Harbourside project is a flagship maritime building which will house a range of facilities and attractions.

The £300,000 of new money will enable them to make space for another 36 berths for boats and small yachts – an investment that should provide employment for three people.

A director of Porthcawl Harbourside, Michael Clarke, told THE GEM that it was a 'Community Interest Company' (CIC) working with "a range of partners to secure a new maritime centre and thriving well-resourced marina and watersports centre within the emerging Porthcawl Harbour Quarter."

The old harbour was recently converted into a permanent water berth for 70 boats, in a project run by Bridgend County Borough Council (BCBC).

The Porthcawl Harbourside group has now been successful in securing £297,000 from the Coastal Communities Fund to enable 'phase 2' to go ahead.

The Coastal Communities Fund is run by the Big Lottery on behalf of UK Government and through the Welsh Government in Wales.

Announcing the awards, the Minister Lesley Griffiths AM congratulated a number of projects, which will share £4,591,612, on their successful bids.

She said: "We want to see vibrant, viable communities all along Wales's fantastic coastline. This fund will support our work to regenerate coastal towns, boosting their economic development as well as their standing as key tourism and cultural destinations."

"The funding will enable those with local knowledge to develop projects addressing the specific issues facing their communities. I look forward to seeing how these schemes benefit local people and support our wider regeneration vision for Wales."

Michael Clarke said: "We are absolutely delighted that Porthcawl will benefit from £297,597 to further develop the marina/harbour quarter in Porthcawl by increasing boat capacity, providing new water sports activity provision, as well as education facilities for visitors and local people".

The boat capacity will be increased by a harbourside, three-tier racking system that will take 36 boats.

The grant cash will pay for this structure, together with the lifting gear which will winch a boat out of the harbour so it can be placed securely in the rack.

Michael Clarke continued: "This is a huge vote of confidence in 'community led' regeneration and in our ambitions to develop Jennings Building and the proposed maritime centre into a high-quality integrated harbour quarter."

"We are most grateful to the Coastal Communities Fund, to BCBC's communities team, Bic-innovation and local organisations for their generous support and for their courage in supporting us".

Fellow director Stuart Bentley said: "This funding will enable us to create new jobs and support the expansion of existing employment, and the development of new leisure and educational business's operating in the marina and harbour area."

"New equipment will include launch and retrieval facilities to enable boats to be lifted out of the water, plus a range of coastal educational facilities".

This project has been supported by: the Community Economic Development (CED) programme delivered in partnership by a six valleys local authority consortium of: Blaenau Gwent, Bridgend, Caerphilly, Merthyr Tydfil, Rhondda Cynon Taf and Torfaen. The CED programme is supported by the European Regional Development Fund through the Welsh Government; Big Lottery Awards for All and WCVA.

WELSH stage star
Connie Fisher was the special guest for St Richard Gwyn's annual prizegiving evening, which celebrated the many and varied achievements of the Barry students during the previous school year.

The evening began with a welcome by head boy Kieran Horrigan, followed by an opening prayer from Vicar General Canon Joe Boardman.

A cornet solo played by Cerian Reynish and a musical item from the SRG Band (Oscar McNaughton, Thomas Dunstan, Callum Aust, Aron Cozens and Jade Clarke) were enjoyed by all.

The special guest for the evening was Connie Fisher, star of the Sound of Music stage show, and we were treated to an enlightening talk about her climb to fame and how she pursued her dream despite numerous setbacks.

Connie was wonderful with the students and carefully posed when presenting them with their awards so they could have a special photo to remind them of their achievements.

The evening closed with head girl Rosanna Ellis thanking the special guests and all concerned for an inspiring evening.

Club's plan to get more girls on the golf course

A CURRENT national campaign to get more girls involved in sport is being supported by a Vale golf club.

What's more, John Hastings, the teaching professional at St Andrews Major Golf Club, is of the opinion that girls pick up important parts of the game quicker than boys.

He said: "Girls are a lot easier to teach because they are not so pre-occupied with hitting the ball vast distances as boys and young men are."

John believes there are many girls who would take up the game if they knew what opportunities exist and if they had other girls to practise and play with.

For that reason, he has decided to offer local girls between seven and 14 years a "starters" lesson free of charge, for the rest of this month and through February.

If they enjoy the experience, they can join one of the courses that John offers at the club, with the long-term goal of bringing them to either a good club, county or even international level, depending on their ability and commitment.

St Andrews Major GC already has two promising girl members. Holly Pitcock (16) won the Shelter Cymru Welsh Open at Celtic Manor and Megan Cullinane (aged 11) won the club's junior championship against a field of 17 boys.

John feels that St Andrews, which has recently become a nine-hole starter course is the perfect place to launch their golfing careers.

He added: "We have a five-year plan to develop young girl golfers in both the physical and mental sides of the game."

"Golf is an aerobic exercise and, coupled with the walking the game demands, you can burn around 1,500 calories over 18 holes."

"The health benefits are obvious, and the opportunity of forming friendships through golf is another genuine reason for taking up the game".

Hockey team's magnificent seven

WHILE Penarth Hockey Club's 2nd XI had their unbeaten record preserved by the frozen tundra of Treforest, the senior team roared back into Davis Wood Hockey League action by crushing old rivals Cardiff & Met at home, winning 7-3.

Despite the arrival of winter in the Vale, Penarth were able to welcome their opponents to Colcot Sports Centre as they looked to build on the 6-1 victory claimed over Cardiff Medics before the Christmas break.

The home side started the game very slowly and Cardiff capitalised by catching them in possession and breaking quickly to open the scoring.

The Bears, however, responded quickly, equalising in short order thanks to the ever-reliable Phil Lane, who slotted past the Cardiff 'keeper following a swift counter attack.

The rest of the half proved evenly matched, but Penarth went into the interval 2-1 down after Cardiff again made the most of some poor defending to retake the lead late on.

Some stern words in the halftime huddle clearly fired the home side, as Penarth came out all guns blazing for the second period and produced some of the best hockey they have played all year.

Putting Cardiff under immense pressure from the start eventually proved too much for the visitors and, as they cracked, Penarth fired home five unanswered goals as Tom Haran, Chris Baker and Chris McCarthy added to a Lane brace that completed his hat-trick.

Cardiff managed to score a scrappy goal to reduce to deficit, but it wasn't long before Penarth restored their advantage to move up a place in the De Cymru & The Marches 1 divisional standings.

The 1st XI travels to Cardiff University on January 24 looking to extend their recent run of good form and avenge a home defeat earlier in the season.

The Seconds hope to have better luck with the weather as they host one of the many Whitchurch sides that proliferate in De Cymru 2.

Penarth Hockey Club always welcomes new, old and returning players, umpires, supporters, friends and helpers regardless of age and ability.

Training takes place on the artificial turf at Barry Sport Centre every Wednesday, with the juniors in action between 6-7pm and seniors between 7-8pm.

Football clubs merge to improve coaching levels

TWO local football clubs have merged, and they intend to offer excellent standards of coaching for boys and girls in the Vale of Glamorgan.

Barry Athletic FC and Vale Ladies & Girls FC have signed an official FAW affiliation agreement to merge, but will keep their names.

Barry Athletic FC were formed in 1975 and this year will celebrate their 40th anniversary with a series of events.

The senior team are the current champions of the Premier Division and the junior section currently provide football at under-14 and under-9 level but are looking to offer football for other ages from next season onwards.

The Vale Ladies & Girls FC were formed in 2012 but can already claim to be the largest female club in south Wales with a membership of over 150 players and provides football from under-8 right the way through to under-16 and senior level.

The chairman of Barry Athletic FC, Tony Barnett said: "After being approached by Vale Ladies & Girls with the idea of an affiliation, we didn't need to think twice."

"The Vale share the same ideas in terms of the growth and progression of children. We are proud to say that we can now help provide football for females of all ages."

Luke Williams, chairman of Vale Ladies & Girls FC, said: "This partnership presents lots of development opportunities over the coming years for both clubs who share ambitious plans for the future."

Sports under-9s get bragging rights

IN the third derby of the season between the closest of rivals, it was Bridgend Sports under-9s who claimed the bragging rights over Bridgend Athletic, and deservedly so for a team performance full of discipline and determination.

The two previous games between the sides had ended with one victory for the Athletic and one draw. This result levelled the series of matches and showed how much the young Sports squad has developed over the season to date, especially when consideration is given to the fact that a number of players were absent through injury or illness on the day.

The Athletic won the toss and started the game with a run from deep at the Sports defence; the attack was quickly brought to a halt by the well-organised defence of the Sports. A loose pass was snapped up by Tyrone Davies and the ball was soon worked quickly upfield, with all Sports players supporting and passing for Joel Rogers to break the Athletic defence to claim the first score of the game.

In a typical local derby, defence dominated for a period, as play edged to and fro before Bridgend Athletic's Tristan James unlocked the scoreboard, as he raced across field and down the touch line to bring the scores level at one try a piece.

Determined not to be out-scored, Bridgend Sports hit back after a run from Dewi Worrall, he passed to Joel Rogers who jinxed and outsmarted the defence to create space and provide the final pass to Iestyn John who scored near the corner for the Sports to take a 2-1 halftime lead.

In the second half, the Athletic levelled early as Tristan James showed his pace down the wing again to score. It is a mark of a good side in how it is able to respond to any setback. The young Sports side responded immediately as Tyrone Davies cut his way through the Ath's line for his team to regain the lead.

The young blue and whites then really stepped up their game and showed excellent team spirit as they worked together to thwart every Bridgend Athletic attack.

Ben King put in the outstanding tackle of the day, as he put his body on the line five metres from his own line to deny the Athletic a certain score and secure important ball.

The Sports players then combined well as Dewi Worrall, Cian John, Alex Stimpson and Tyrone Davies took play up into the Athletic half and then sent Mackenzie Dent on a powerful charge that almost led to a further score.

The Athletic then forced the Sports back into their own half, but further Sports attacks ensued as Ben King, Dewi Worrall, Rhys Wilson, Tyrone Davies, Thomas Coles and Mackenzie Dent all made good ground with some direct running, before the ball was worked along the line for Cian John to show his opponents a clean pair of heels to score a deserved try out wide, for the home side to lead 4-2.

Bridgend Athletic tried to hit back but were kept at bay by determined tackling from Callum Lewis, Dewi Worrall, Ben King, Alex Stimpson, Thomas Coles and the ever-present Tyrone Davies for the home team.

In the final minutes of the game, the Sports attacked following a good break from Joel Rogers and then a couple of close range runs from Rhys Wilson and Ieuan Pilliner.

Despite a great effort, no further scores followed and the Sports deservedly claimed the spoils this time with a 4-2 win.

It was a just reward for their teamwork and hard work in tackling the opposition to secure possession and then retain it, to deny their opponents the ball.

SP

Sports denied by Bryncethin

BRIDGEND Sports under-15s made the short trip to Bryncethin for what was always going to be a tough game.

This match was billed as a preview for the upcoming Ospreys Cup Bowl semi-final between the two sides on March 29, and the Sports had a squad of 22 for the fixture.

Bryncethin had most of the territory early on and this helped their bright start to the game.

However, like last week, the Sports once again demonstrated their good defensive qualities as Bryncethin could not find a way to break through the Sports solid defence.

But, inevitably the Sports defence couldn't stand firm for much longer and after a period of pressure the hosts scored a short distance try to the right of the posts. Nevertheless, after conceding the first try of the match, the Sports were gradually making yards which brought them into the game.

The Sports were then rewarded for their spirit, when Number 8 Calum Reape showed good endeavour to charge down a Bryncethin kick which consequently landed perfectly in the try line for Calum to pounce on to score a converted try which put the Sports 7-5 in front.

The Sports then withstood some late first half pressure from Bryncethin to go into halftime in front.

The second half was a physical encounter where both teams gave their all to try and win the game. Much of this half was played in the middle of the pitch as a result of the Sports holding a good defensive line.

For large parts of this half, it was looking like the Sports would close out this game to claim a vital win but with roughly 10 minutes remaining the hosts put a dent in this hope as they upped the ante with a period of sustained pressure deep inside the Sports' 22.

Bryncethin stretched the full and this created a large gap to the right of the Sports defence.

Bryncethin then played the ball to their right winger who was in plenty of space to put the home side 10-7 in front.

Despite the Sports' best efforts to regain the lead, Bryncethin then sealed the match with a further try to run out victors, 15-7.

The Sports ran a good Bryncethin side close and hopefully the boys can claim their revenge on Bryncethin by winning the more important encounter in the semi-final.

Rhose Lifeguards host 'the Vale speed relays'

The Rhose Lifeguards.

Plenty for Evan to smile about

LLANCARFAN'S Evan Williams, who is the leading trainer at Ludlow, had plenty to smile about at the Welsh borders track last Thursday.

His Firebird Flyer won the 'Royal Highness the Prince Of Wales Challenge Trophy Amateur Riders' Handicap Chase', and his promising Armchair Theatre took the Ludlow Intermediate National Hunt Conditional Jockeys and Amateur Riders' flat race.

Firebird Flyer, ridden by Conor Orr, won by six lengths from Firm Order at odds of 4-1 and Armchair Theatre, partnered by Lewis Gordon, accounted for Henry Daly's HeresMyNumber.

Evan said: "To be fair to Firebird Flyer he ran a good race to finish fourth at Haydock last time he ran, so he came here in good form. It's great for Conor as it was his first winner and I thought he gave it a sensible ride."

"As they do in these amateur rider races, they went at a strong gallop and the race fell apart. I think that was what it was down to more than anything but Conor rode a nice waiting race. I think the horse will get it from the handicapper now and will probably struggle when he goes up in the weights."

"We've run him in better races in the past and he's not been good enough. It was a good prize to win today, though, so we are not complaining."

On Armchair Theatre, Evan said: "Lewis Gordon guided him to an impressive win on the horse's racecourse debut. He's a horse we have always thought the world of, but because he's quite a narrow horse, we struggle to keep condition on him. But make no mistake he is a very talented horse."

Evan's stable jockey Paul Moloney also had plenty to smile about. He had a double for West Wales trainer Rebecca Curtis.

The first leg was initiated when Ballyhollow came home ahead of Evan's Still Believing in the Ludlow Racecourse Bookmakers Mares' Handicap Hurdle and the second when the well fancied Scorpioncer landed the Ludlow Maiden Hurdle.

Paul, who is the top rider at Ludlow, has now ridden 44 winners there, and most of them for Evan, who brought his total of Ludlow winners to 56.

PAUL'S TAUNTON DOUBLE

Paul Moloney stable jockey to Llanccarfarn's Evan Williams landed a double for his boss at Taunton last Saturday.

Paul took the opening EBF Stallions' National Hunt Novice Hurdle on Padge, the 5-4 favourite, who won by a neck from Quinlondo, and later took the Bathwick Tyres Taunton Handicap

RECENTLY, Rhose Lifeguards hosted an afternoon of team relay races based on surf lifesaving events at Barry Leisure Centre.

The competition entitled 'Vale of Glamorgan Speed Relays' saw junior, senior and masters teams from Sker, Llantwit Major, Pen-y-bont, Southerndown and Rhose take part in races including obstacle, manikin carry, rope throw, fin and medley events.

With each competitor in a team racing a pool length or 25 metres in events, the emphasis was on quick and 'speedy' races which kept the momentum and energy going throughout the afternoon. This was a great 'warm-up' for upcoming Welsh championships coming up in February.

Rhose Lifeguards would like to thank all of the teams for taking part and for all of the volunteers who helped with timekeeping and organisational duties.

Lacie and Penny celebrate success.

Penny surprised by her award!

BARRY Athletic Tennis Club works hard to develop links across the local community in order to promote healthy lifestyles for all ages and contribute to the sense of wellbeing of the people of Barry and the Vale.

The tennis club regularly links with local small businesses, providing mutually beneficial platforms for promotion and services.

They range from one-off raffle donations, helping to raise funds for the volunteer-run club, to event support (such as the Bakeoff supported by the Vale Cake Boutique, Barry Island Café Coastal Coffee, and local Pampered Chef Franchisee), and to the successful community partnership it enjoys with local company FitM8.

Thanks to the partnership, Barry Athletic Tennis Club can now offer a regular player of the month award, where FitM8 presents a tennis racquet and certificate to an outstanding mini or junior player each month.

The tennis club's junior development officer, Penny Mickelsen, has been the chief link between the club and the wider community, and she was surprised at the junior Christmas party with a presentation of flowers and award from FitM8 as 'outstanding community partner'.

After receiving her award, Penny commented: "I love my work with the tennis club, both as a coach and a volunteer, and have met some fantastic people as a result of my involvement."

"Seeing players enjoying themselves and developing a love of the game thanks to the small input I can have is hugely rewarding in itself, so the award really was the icing on the cake to mark the end of a thoroughly fulfilling year."

Barry Thirds make progress in comfortable trophy victory

BARRY Third XV entertained St Peters in the preliminary round of the Ninian Stuart Trophy on a cold January afternoon, looking for their first win of the season.

Selector Ken Chow and manager Frank Greig made several changes, handing a first appearance of the season to prop Glyn Pirso and wing Joe Chucas, while also recalling Martin Tanner and Luke O'Sullivan from injury. Joe Bertera and Nathan Davies awaited their debuts from the bench.

The inclement weather did not help proceedings to begin with for either side, as the muddy ground, swirling wind and slippery ball made it difficult for any flow of the game.

St Peters appeared to cope better at first, making use of the slope to dominate possession and territory, but their attempts at assaulting the Barry line were repelled by some typically stout tackling by the home side, led by captain Lloyd Jones and his back row partners O'Sullivan and Jon Morris.

Neither side could find a breakthrough in the first half, as Dave Evans and his opposite number both missed kickable penalty opportunities, while both teams also had a member visiting the sin bin for a minor disagreement on the field.

The half was perhaps best summed up by an attempt to find touch from a penalty, only for the ball to be kicked backwards and lose the team yards.

At halftime Barry knew that they were well in the game and if they could keep the composure in the second interval, the match was there for the taking. The management reminded the players to keep their discipline and accuracy.

The players responded magnificently after the break, as following good forward drives from Tanner, Pirso and O'Sullivan, the ball was recycled quickly via Mephram and Evans, who in turn found Ethan Dicks out wide who beat all defenders to score in the corner.

Evans' misfortune with the boot continued as he failed with the difficult conversion.

The Barry scrum was now dominant after the introduction of James Sullivan and later on Chris Deyes, and this platform allowed the home side to lay siege to the St Peters line, using the slope perfectly to their advantage.

The only way for the visitors to relieve the pressure was via the boot, and from one such clearance kick they found winger Mike Jones, who comically dropped the ball on the floor before falling flat on his face.

Comedy aside, Barry were looking for a second score that would put the tie to bed, and it duly came when O'Sullivan sniped from the base of the scrum, accelerated and dove through to score under the posts. Evans added the extras to make it 12-0.

Barry would continue their domination in the dying embers of the game, and after Pirso was denied a score from a well-worked maul, the green-and-whites did have the final say in the last play of the game.

From a St Peters scrum on their five metre line, the ball spilled out from the back, and Morris was alert to dive on the loose ball to score his first try of the season.

Evans' conversion rounded off a good day's work for the 3rd XV to record their first victory of the season.

The 1st XV will visit Cowbridge this weekend, while the 2nd XV host Clwb Rygbi and the 3rd XV travel to Taff's Well.

Team: Clarke; Chucas, Dicks, Evans, M Jones; Bailey, Mephram; Thomas, Ring, Pirso; Tanner, Hall; Morris; L Jones ©, O'Sullivan. Replacements: Sullivan, Deyes, Bertera, Davies. Man of the match: Pirso.

Gymnasts enjoy medal success!

Ffion and Hana with their medals.

Lara Watkins.

THERE was success for two Barry YMCA gymnasts who participated in the South Central Levels and National Challenge Cup competition.

Ffion Byrne (17) became the South Central Area National Challenge Cup Champion and also claimed gold on vault, beam and floor.

On the opposite end of the age spectrum, six year old Hana Davies competed for the first time in the South Central Area Levels competition. She successfully performed lots of new skills including a new floor exercise to become the overall champion and also claimed gold on vault, bars, beam, floor and range and conditioning.

Ffion was in action again when she was selected to represent the South Central area in the Level 3 category at the Alpha Factor competition in Wiltshire.

She performed particularly well on vault and also gained a special award for her bars exercise.

Lara Watkins was also selected to represent the area at this competition in the Level 4 category. She performed confidently and gained special awards for her vault and bars.

Ffion continued her success in competitions when she gained a bronze medal on vault at the Welsh National Challenge Cup competition.

Congratulations to all three gymnasts and thank you to coaches Aimee McCarthy and Sophie Erickson for your continued dedication.

FUNERAL OF RUGBY STAR

THE funeral of former Wales Rugby League international, Paul Morgan of Pencoed, who died on January 12, takes place on Friday, January 23 at St David's Church, Neath at 2.15pm, followed by burial at 3pm in St Catwgs Church, Cadoxton, Neath.

Third round throws up some intriguing games

LAST week saw the third round of the Barry Chess Club Championships, as 16 players took part in some interesting games.

The league is now starting to spread out with the players who you would expect to be playing for the title rising to the top. This also means that most players will now be playing against other club members who have returned similar results in the first two rounds.

The player who is out of position in reference to his lowly rating is Windsor Lewis. Windsor may appear near to the bottom of our club ratings but after an excellent performance against Ken Hannah he earned a draw, although Ken had a win in the endgame but couldn't find it with the clock ticking. Windsor now finds himself in the heady position of fourth place and leading the Bowl section by a whole point.

Our two latest recruits, father and daughter Nick and Pagona Mavroyenneas, were always going to have tough games against their more experienced opponents. Nick missed a winning idea against Chris Green and Pagona was a piece up against Martin Ricketts; the latter game was a tight encounter.

On top board Craig Woolcock made a tactical error early on and Steve Cunliffe missed a win and had to settle for perpetual check. This allows Ashley Davis to take a half point lead at the top of the table after his win against Sam White; Ashley remains the only player on 100 per cent.

Towards the bottom end of the table Dave Mahoney and John Stephenson had a good battle - John was up on material but had to go for perpetual check.

Elsewhere there was a good win for the Barry Bosons, beating the Aberdare Wasps by 4.5 to 0.5. This moves the Bosons up to second place in division 1; unfortunately the Cardiff Castles beat the Nelson Rhinos 4-1 to stretch their lead to two points, although the Barry Camelots and North Cardiff Woodpushers are still in the fight a further half point behind.

In division 4 the Gambits entertained the St Johns' College Neutrinos. In the previous four seasons we had beaten the Neutrinos convincingly in all eight previous matches. However this season we lost in the away game back in September and repeated the result in the second match, losing 3.5-1.5.

The Barry Chess Club meets at 7.30pm each Monday at the West End Club, St Nicholas Road, Barry CF62 6QY. The club is open to players of all standards; whether you are interested in playing competitive chess or just the occasional friendly games.

New players are very welcome to just turn up on the night but if you contact one of the club members through the website we can explain what is happening on the night you have in mind, and arrange for someone to greet you on your arrival.

Ladies back in action - and winning ways!

DINAS POWYS Ladies faced Hafod Ladies on the weekend.

The villagers' line up was very attack minded, playing a 3-4-3 formation. The team has worked hard on playing football the correct way this season but for this game the ladies set about playing percentage football.

Taking time to settle into the new formation Dinas fell a goal behind early on, but they never panicked and went about the game in a determined mood.

Goals from Ellen Phillips (2), Laura Lewis and Rachel Beare (2) gave the Vale team a comfortable and deserved lead of 5-1 at the break.

The back three of Vicky Ellison, Leane Pattemore and Emma Thompson coped very well, showing that they could deal with the high ball over the top and the through balls with ease.

The midfield four of White, Beddoe, Saunders and Howells were asked to press and squeeze as a unit allowing the Valley team little time on the ball, and play a direct style when in possession.

The front three of Phillips, Lewis and Beare would give most teams a hard time. The link up play was key and any other day the score would have been in double figures.

Jodi Bowles had the thankless task of picking up the gloves with the late withdrawal of Harold through illness, but put in great shift when replaced by Saunders in goals.

Danielle Speight and Booth showed how important it is to have substitutes as they came on and both put in a solid shift.

Well done ladies - with very little football being played lately it was nice to see the red and blacks winning again.
